

New York City Re-Entry Services:

THE JAILS TO JOBS INITIATIVE

Jails to Jobs is a citywide re-entry strategy focused on providing paid transitional employment to people leaving City jails, coupled with supportive services to help participants find and maintain employment.

The Jails to Jobs network provides the following:

→ Employment services in the community

- Job training and job readiness workshops
- Soft skills workshops
- Career certifications
- Paid transitional employment
- Connections to permanent employment

→ Access to higher education

The College Initiative program, run by the Prisoner Reentry Institute (PRI) at CUNY John Jay College, helps formerly incarcerated individuals enroll in and graduate from college. Interested students need a high school diploma or equivalency.

For more information, contact PRI at pri@jjay.cuny.edu or 212-393-6010

→ Holistic services in the community that support employment

- Mental, behavioral and physical health care
- Family support and reunification
- Assistance identifying permanent housing
- Educational support
- Case management
- Benefits access
- Employment-related legal support
